Exhibitor testimonials

"PCIM Asia is one of the most important exhibitions in the power electronics industry, providing a platform for customers and suppliers, both domestic and international, to connect. At this year's event, we showcased power semiconductor solutions designed for applications including automotive main drives, photovoltaic energy and charging stations, which drew considerable attention from customers. The exhibition made it evident that demand for third-generation semiconductors is on the rise. The high efficiency, high power density and reliable solutions on display here also demonstrate the industry's progress toward low-carbon energy management."
